These policies outline procedures for risk assessment, reporting/whistleblowing, penalties, and remediation procedures. Human Resources is responsible to ensure that all leaders understand these policies and further, ensure receipt of an Acknowledgement and Statement of Compliance from all colleagues.

All Jones Healthcare Group Inc. supplier interactions are subject to a Sustainable Procurement Policy, which commits to compliance with all relevant laws and regulations—including International Labor Organization (ILO) standards prohibiting slavery, child labour, and forced labor. Through this policy, all Jones Healthcare Group Inc. procurement teams commit to establishing criteria for assessing our suppliers' ethical business practices and the elimination of forced and child labour. Further, by 2025 all strategic suppliers and suppliers establishing and conducting business with Jones Healthcare Group Inc. must endorse and sign a Supplier Code of Conduct, which includes: requirements for suppliers to not use forced or child labor either directly or indirectly; adherence to the minimum employment age limit defined by national law or regulation; compliance to relevant ILO standards; procedures for whistleblowing; and penalties and remediation procedures for non-adherence.

Current Assessment

Jones Healthcare Group Inc. has started the process of identifying risks of modern slavery in our supply chains, but there are still gaps in our assessments. Based on preliminary information gathered, there is low to no risk of forced or child labour. Certain suppliers have received a low-risk rating based on location of their activities, operations, or factories. We are currently working to address gaps in our assessments and mitigate potential risks (see "In Development").

To date, we have not identified any instance of modern slavery in our activities or supply chains. Further, we have not identified any loss of income to vulnerable families resulting from measures taken to eliminate the use of modern slavery in our activities and supply chains.

Training

In April 2024, we set a target to ensure that 100% of colleagues involved in procurement activities at Jones Healthcare Group Inc., will be trained on identification of forced labour, modern slavery, and trafficking by 2025. This training commitment was ratified in our Sustainable Procurement Policy on May 1, 2024. We are proud to announce that within two months, this target has been met. All procurement colleagues, as well as their managing directors, have now completed a third-party training course designed to equip them with the knowledge to recognize and prevent exploitative labour practices. This ensures that our workplace is not just compliant with the law but can also serve as a beacon of ethical employment practices.

The training course completed consists of seven modules, centered around: the definitions of forced and child labour; the importance of labour legislation; the penalties and enforcement mechanisms of legislation; and steps to take for compliance.

In Development

As we move forward, we are dedicated to enhancing our supply chain processes with a particular focus on identifying and mitigating the risks of modern slavery. To achieve this, we will establish:

- Regular Risk Assessments: Implement systematic and regular assessments to identify potential risks of modern slavery within our supply chain.
- Key Performance Indicators (KPIs): Develop and track specific KPIs that will help us measure our progress in mitigating the risks of modern slavery. These indicators will be critical in ensuring accountability and transparency in our efforts.
- Supplier Engagement: Engage with our suppliers to ensure they understand and adhere to our ethical standards.
- Continuous Improvement: Commit to continuous improvement by regularly reviewing and updating our policies and practices based on the latest insights and developments in combating modern slavery.

This commitment was ratified in our Sustainable Procurement Policy on May 1, 2024, which commits to compliance with all relevant laws and regulations, including International Labor Organization (ILO) standards prohibiting slavery, child labour, and forced labor. Through this policy, all Jones Healthcare

Group Inc. procurement teams commit to establishing criteria for assessing our suppliers' ethical business practices and the elimination of forced and child labour. Furthermore, by 2025, all strategic suppliers and new suppliers with Jones Healthcare Group Inc. must endorse and sign a Supplier Code of Conduct, which includes: requirements for suppliers to not use forced or child labor, either directly or indirectly; adherence to the minimum employment age limit defined by national law or regulation; compliance with relevant ILO standards; procedures for whistleblowing; and penalties and remediation procedures for non-adherence. In addition, we are currently working with a third-party provider to incorporate technology to more readily diagnose risks based on a number of criteria, including political, climate, and geographic factors.
